THE CASSIER MAGAZINE CO.

No. 3 West Twenty-ninth Street, . . New York

The Engineering Magazine is made for the man who wants to grow in his business—whether he holds a subordinate position, is a practicing engineer or a factory manager. More Than 300 Pages Every Issue.

Timely Articles (96 pages).

Specially written papers on all important engineering questions of the day, including Electrical, Civil, Mechanical and Mining Engineering, and Industrial Management in all its branches. Every leading article is written by a specialist,—by a man who has attained position and can write with authority on the subjects discussed.

Illustrations.

The illustrations aptly supplement the text, are freely used, and in securing them neither effort nor expense is spared. The illustrations are selected for their practical utility rather than for decorative effects.

Industrial News

Engineering Reviews (24 pages).

A concise survey of current industrial engineering progress, as reflected in the entire industrial press of the world.

The Engineering Index (32 pages).

A topical index to the whole range of current engineering and industrial literature, making it possible for one to keep abreast of progress in his specialty by this one publication alone. This index tells of every article on a given specialty published anywhere, and provides a ready means of obtaining it. Ask for descriptive circular.

“THE COMPLETE COST-KEEPER” presents different original cost-keeping systems, varying in complexity from one so simple that the entire history of each production order is recorded on a single printed form, up to some of the most elaborate methods known, by which any desired degree of minuteness in subdivision of accounting can be obtained.

Every step in the use of the several systems is minutely detailed, and when the factory production is separated from the purely commercial operation of disposing of the factory product, the commercial books are also described, and in all cases the number of men at work, and the number and class of bookkeepers, clerks, messengers, time-takers, and so on, employed in cost-accounting is given, so that any manager can tell about what he may expect the use of a similar system to cost in his own establishment.

450 Pages. 6 x 9. Illustrated.
Cloth Binding. $5.00, Prepaid.

“THE FACTORY MANAGER” tells how to eliminate dead expense; unnecessary fixed charges; friction and delays in handling work; useless help, methods, and records; unnecessary time and material; interruptions, “waits,” and guess-work; too many handlings of work, etc., and how to arrive at the exact cost of all work done.

There is not a theory in the whole book. Every chapter is a working plan available for immediate use. Every method, every card, every blank form and record book, is in successful use; every one is the result of years of testing, revision, and improvement.

All cards, tickets, order-blanks, page or sheet headings, etc., have the size marked, together with the color and kind of paper on which they are printed. Any one can, therefore, reproduce any form shown and readily apply it in his own business.

432 Pages. 6 x 9. Illustrated.
Cloth Binding. $5.00, Prepaid.

THE "METHODS AND COST" JOURNAL

Thousands of busy contractors and engineers find in our papers, costing only $1.00 a year each, just the information that they need and do not take the time or trouble to read the vast amount of matter that appears in the more expensive periodicals.

ENGINEERING=CONTRACTING

EVERY WEDNESDAY $1 FOR THE 52 ISSUES

Published in Chicago every Wednesday, 52 issues, only $1.00 a year, is edited by Halbert P. Gillette, M. Am. Soc. C. E., author of "Handbook of Cost Data," "Rock Excavation," "Earthwork and Its Cost" and "Economics of Road Construction," and for several years on the editorial staff of "Engineering News." Last year Mr. Gillette had the honor of being appointed Chief Engineer of the Washington State Railroad Commission to ascertain the amount of money expended by the railroads in the State of Washington for original construction, betterments and equipment, as well as to estimate the cost of reproducing the existing 3,000 miles of railroad in that State. The associate editors include such well-known writers as Charles S. Hill, for eighteen years on the editorial staff of "Engineering News," author of "The Chicago Main Drainage Channel," and joint author with A. W. Buel of "Reinforced Concrete," and C. T. Murray, for many years editor of the construction news department of "Engineering News." Myron C. Clark, our publisher, had charge of the book and subscription departments of "Engineering News" for eight years, while A. B. Gilbert, our advertising manager, was with the same paper twelve years and later with the "Railway Age" for three years.

ENGINEERING-CONTRACTING is the great Methods and Cost Paper, and is the only engineering paper whose editor has had actual contracting experience and who is at the same time a practical engineer. It is devoted to the interest of the engineer as a Builder and its articles deal with those practical features which enable engineers and contractors to make close and accurate estimates and foremen to handle work in the most economical manner possible. They tell what similar work has cost in various cities. This detailed information is not contract prices, but actual costs taken from the private records of engineers and contractors, and so itemized and analyzed as to be of inestimable value to any person who has to do with making bids and estimates or in checking estimates on such work as is described in each article.

Naturally a paper publishing such articles, which are out of the ordinary and of inestimable value, becomes a reference library, and not a scrap basket symposium, and is therefore the very best kind of an advertising medium. We have also a system of co-operation with our advertisers whereby we help them to secure business in addition to the direct returns from their advertisements in our columns. This plan of co-operation is unequaled by that of any other paper in the world, and advertisers in ENGINEERING-CONTRACTING say this is the very best paper they have ever used for actual results.

A prominent member of the American Society of Civil Engineers writes as follows :

"Enclosed please find $2 for subscriptions to ENGINEERING-CONTRACTING and to RAILWAY MAINTENANCE AND STRUCTURES for the coming year. I know of no engineering journals in the country that give greater value for the money. Every young engineer should preserve files of ENGINEERING-CONTRACTING and arrange an index for ready reference to items of cost contained therein. The most successful engineers are those who know and keep the cost of work."

Clear span 870', 460' 6" above the Zambesi. Load ten long tons. For details see general drawings, page 8, and reading data, pages 6 to 9 our catalogue.

The Scientific American of January 27, 1906, in an exhaustive editorial concludes as follows: "Although this plant was erected as an experiment it has proved so satisfactory that the system is to be extended throughout the yards. Only in extra instances they will be of greater dimensions so they will cover and serve two berths simultaneously, each 700 feet long. The plant has been inspected by many of the most prominent British shipbuilders and it is stated that the system is to be applied to several other yards."

Patented by W. F. Brothers.

This crane has every good feature to be found in the standard traveling crane together with the following striking advantages not to be found in any other:

1st. A transverse carriage of any merchandise by setting the bridge at any desired angle, after which the load-carriage is all that requires operating until another location is desired.

2nd. The maximum and minimum strains are the same, they are static. For further strong features see page 7, cuts 1, 2 and 3 and reading matter, pages 6 to 9 our catalogue.

BEFORE BUYING FANS, BLOWERS and EXHAUSTERS

Get Our Plans and Prices.

Ask for our New Fan Catalog which describes all types. It contains, also, the tables and engineering data used in designing, heating and ventilating, mechanical draft, humidifying, drying and dust collector plants, together with illustrations of recent notable installations.

GREEN MECHANICAL DRAFT FANS.

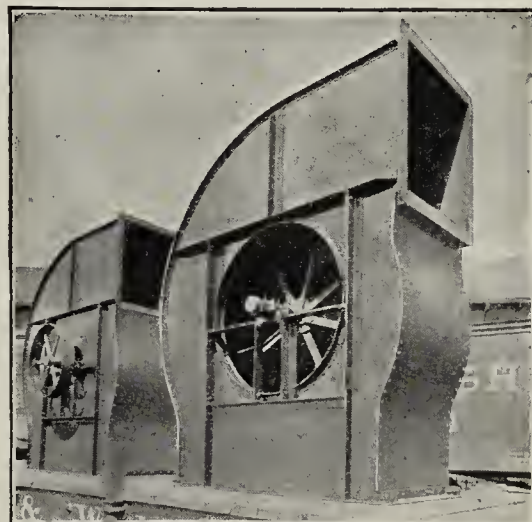

GREEN STEAM HEATING COIL.

Our Mechanical Draft Plants will interest you if you pay coal bills. We have studied boiler furnace economy for 60 years and there are few conditions, indeed, with which we have not had exhaustive experience. We recently put in several exceptionally large fans for burning low grade fuels in Western plants and have succeeded in reducing the cost of steam and in abating the smoke nuisance. We would like to refer you to these plants and also to study any plant which you are proposing to put in.

Our Heating and Ventilating Plants, containing Green Fans and Green Steam Heating Coils, are to-day making comfortable several of the largest public buildings and manufacturing works lately finished. In such plants our special designs have often saved considerable space or money.

Our Planing Mill and Wool Exhausters are selling rapidly because of their extra heavy and well-balanced construction.

While every fan we turn out is generally a little better than anybody else's (as for details) and although we give individual engineering attention to each case, our prices are no higher than others.

BUCKEYE ELECTRIC BLUE PRINTING MACHINES

" HIGHEST IN EFFICIENCY LOWEST IN PRICE "

Built in 3 sizes taking prints up to 42" wide by 6' long.

Requires but one lamp which is of the latest photo-engraving and blue printing type.

Is equipped with ball-bearing rollers which require no buttoning, clamping or fastening of any kind to the frame.

Contact is secured by means of weights instead of springs which by constant use lose their tensile strength.

The drop of the lamp is actuated by an escapement movement which has proved preferable to the water and oil cylinder as the fluid invariably works out and ruins the tracings.

The Ironclay Brick Company

COLUMBUS, OHIO

SOLE MANUFACTURER OF

THE IRONCLAY BRICK

is unique in character, color and composition. It is the product of a fine grade of fire clay, containing two non-magnetic elements of iron, and is made from the clay just as it comes from the mine.

UNEQUALLED IN COLOR.

No other flashed brick on the market is so warm in tint and so rich in color. Our different colors range from an "old ivory" to a "deep bronze."

A GREAT RECORD.

In the last eight years we have supplied the famous IRONCLAY brick for from ONE to ONE THOUSAND buildings in each of more than TWO HUNDRED CITIES and towns in the United States and Canada, in a territory reaching from Halifax, N. S., to Dallas, Texas, and from Aberdeen, South Dakota, to Jacksonville, Florida.

CAPACITY OF MANUFACTURING PLANT, FIFTEEN MILLION PER YEAR.

General Offices, The Ruggery, Columbus, Ohio
